Camp before Prague, June 8. Laſt Thurſday the two Bridges which had been carried away by the Floods in the River were repair'd, and the Communication between the two Armies is now open. On Friday Morning early one of the Fore Poſts (a ſmall Redoute with 80 Men and three Pieces of Cannon) was ſurprized by a Party of Auſtrian Grenadiers, ſupported by 200 Pandours: They threw their Grenades into the Fort, put the Men into Confuſion, and, before Aſſiſtance came, the Pandours carried away the Cannon; the Loſs of Men was inconſiderable, about 12 or 15 on each Side. Deſerters ſay that the Garriſon of Prague have been amuſed with Signals being made from the Steeples for Count Daun's Army to advance, however he is at too great a Diſtance to return any of them. Since laſt Friday to this preſent Time the Auſtrians have attempted nothing, but our Men have been kept conſtantly alert, and the Guards in all the Out Forts have been reinforced; another Precaution likewiſe has been made uſe of, viz. Chevaux de Friſe have been placed on the Edge of the Foſſé of thoſe Redoutes, which will make any Attempt to ſurprize them more difficult. Beſides the four former Batteries, in which there are both Mortars and Cannon, two new ones of Cannon only, have been raiſed on the other Side of the River. Till Monday laſt our Batteries played inceſſantly, and kept the Town on Fire Night and Day in ſeveral Places. Since that Time the Fire of the Batteries has abated; but they ſtill continue firing, eſpecially in the Night, and there is hardly a Shot fired from the Town. The Out Guards of Pandours at every Gate, receive a Reward for each Deſerter they take. Two Deſerters, who came in laſt Night, ſay that even the Subaltern Officers have no Meat given them; and that two Days ago the Garriſon in Prague began to kill their Horſes, of which a certain Number is diſtributed daily among the Troops. Laſt Monday came an Account, that, upon a Motion made by the Prince of Bevern, Count Daun's Army had quitted a very ſtrong Poſt on the High Grounds near Kuttenberg, and encamped in the Plain, with the Right at Czaſlau, and the Left at Maleſchaw: This Day we have Notice that they have left that Camp, and are retiring to Teutſch-Brod, towards Moravia: That the Prince of Bevern has taken Poſſeſſion of Czaſlau, where he found four Days Proviſion for his whole Corps; that he is following them in their Retreat, and had taken about 80 Priſoners, and killed 40 or 50 Men. Lieutenant Colonel Meyer continues his Operations with Succeſs; and though his original Force did not exceed 1200 Men, he has raiſed a new Battalion of Deſerters, which makes him about 2000 ſtrong, and advanced within three Miles of Nurenberg, where the Senate immediately met, and, after two Days Deliberation, have ſent a Deputation to the King of Pruſſia, to deſire a Neutrality. It is hoped that the whole Circle of Franconia will follow this Example, notwithſtanding the Efforts made by the Margrave of Anſpach to the contrary.

Camp before Prague, June 12. Laſt Wedneſday Night the Town was again ſet on fire by the Battery on this Side the Moldau, and burnt violently all Night; the next Day they continued firing all Day from the ſame Battery. The Deſerters that come in from Prague, ſay that it is now 10 Days ſince they began to kill their Horſes; that Forty are given daily to the Troops; that Horſe-Fleſh is ſold at two Graſch, about four Pence, per Pound; that they ſtill continue to brew, but the Price of Beer is conſiderably raiſed; that there is no Want of Flour, and that Reports are conſtantly ſpread of the Approach of Count Daun's Army, and of the French. By our laſt Accounts the Prince of Bevern continues at Czaſlau, and probably will not ſtir till he receives the Reinforcement from Sileſia, which is ſaid to be in full March, and is conſiderable. Count Daun remains at Teutſch-Brod towards the Frontiers of Moravia.

Vienna, June 8. Count Coloredo, General of Foot, ſet out from hence laſt Monday for Marſhal Daun's Army.

Vienna,

Vienna, June 11. It is the general Opinion here, that however ſcarce other Proviſions may be in Prague, that they have Meal ſufficient for the Garriſon for yet a conſiderable Time. On Sunday laſt an Order was read from all the Pulpits in the Town, forbidding all Perſons whatever, under ſevere Penalties, to talk of Politicks, War, &c.

Hague, June 17. By our laſt Advices from Bohemia, the Pruſſian Army, under the Command of the Duke of Bevern, had approached nearer to Marſhal Daun, upon his left Flank, which made it be imagined that an Action might happen, unleſs the latter retired backward to Moravia, which it is ſuppoſed he will do.

Capt. Hyde Parker, of his Britannick Majeſty's Ship the Squirrel, is arrived at Embden, where he has ſtopt all the Forage which was carried that Way to the French Army.

Hague, June 24. We have Letters from the Head Quarters of the Army upon the Weſer, dated at Holtzhauſen the 18th, which bring an Account, that from the 14th to the 16th Inſtant his Royal Highneſs the Duke of Cumberland had marched to the Weſer, and paſſed that River without any Interruption, notwithſtanding an Attack on the Rear Guard at Bielefeld and Hervord, in which the Enemy was repulſed with conſiderable Loſs. The Loſs on the Side of the Allied Army conſiſted of 44 Men, killed, wounded, and Priſoners, of which Number, one Officer is killed, and two wounded. The French themſelves own, that they gained no Advantage over the Rear Guard of the Allied Army; and that they ſuffered conſiderably in the Attack.

Cologne, June 20. This Day the firſt Diviſion of the Palatine Troops are to move from Derendorff to Mittman, To-morrow to Elverfeldt. They will be 15 Days before they arrive at Arenſberg, where they are to join the Corps under M. de Chevert. The Elector of Mentz, the Margrave of Anſpach, and the Biſhop of Wurtzburg, have wrote to the Elector of Cologne, in the moſt preſſing Terms, to furniſh his Contingent of Troops to the Circle. The Elector has accordingly encamped the two Regiments of the Electorate, and ordered new Levies to be made with the greateſt Expedition; but it is believed the Troops will not be in a Hurry to march from hence. The Siege of Gueldre was begun laſt Wedneſday. M. de Courten has the Command of the Troops employed in it. The Cavalry that remain'd at Ruremonde are march'd to Weſel.

Bruſſels, June 24. Yeſterday arrived here from Valenciennes the two Batallions of Militia of Du Mont and Danye, each of 650 Men, being the firſt Diviſion of the 6000 Militia that are going to garriſon the Places in Weſtphalia, which are in the Poſſeſſion of the French. To-morrow two more Battallions, One of Grenadiers, and the other of St. Pré, are likewiſe expected here from Lille. Our laſt Advices from Marſhal d'Eſtrees's Army are of the 21ſt, but contain nothing of Moment ſince their Arrival at Bielefeld.
